By holding the rally GYLA called attention to the issue of obstacles to access of public information, which has grown into a serious problem lately.

Following messages have been voiced at the rally:

1. Court decisions in freedom of information matters encourages lack of access to public information;
2. Court decisions are unfounded;
3. Court upholds unlawful refusal;
4. Court does not process and give access to public information;
5. Court does not try to protect our rights;
6. Feel the responsibility!

The messages were lit up on the Supreme Court building by means of a projector.
